REPORT FOR 1889.

The Directors of the Boston Training School for Nurses desire to present the report of the sixteenth year of their work in training nurses.

To the general public, a detailed account of the nurse's duties and training during her two years' course is hardly interesting; but we do believe that the public are interested to know of the continued progress of the Training School and of the ever-growing demand for its nurses to take the headship of other institutions as well as enter on private nursing.

It is now sixteen years since the Training School first began its work with the care of two wards of the Massachusetts General Hospital. It now does all the nursing of the Hospital, and provides nurses for the Operating Theatre and Out-patient Department.

There are at present connected with the Training School 54 pupil nurses, 8 probationers, and 9 head nurses; and the school has graduated 25 nurses in the year.

Those who fill the two years' course with credit are graduated with the diploma of the School, and the diploma is much valued by the nurses.

We much desire that the public should understand that no nurse receives a diploma who has not filled her two years' course; and we also much wish that, in any case of doubt about a nurse's standing, the diploma should be asked for and shown, thus avoiding all ambiguous or doubtful statements.

As the years go on, we believe that the quality of the nurses has improved ; and every effort is made to maintain and elevate the standard of teaching and requirements.

The work of the School during the last year has consisted of bedside training and ward-work, and of the Superintendent's training of the nurses by constant oversight, text-book drill, and quizzes. Added to these, and of the highest importance, are the weekly lectures, kindly given by the doctors of the Hospital staff, and the quarterly examinations, which determine the standing of the nurses. The Training School is greatly indebted to the gratuitous services of these doctors, whose lectures are most valuable to the nurses. The examinations have this year been revised, and put on a more uniform scale, to the advantage of all.

In May last, our valued Superintendent, Miss Maxwell, who for seven years had given the School every help that her admirable training could suggest, left us, to our regret, to take a similar position at St. Luke's Hospital, New York. Miss Brown, who for several years had been the efficient head of Ward 27, was appointed as her successor.

Last winter, a new ward for abdominal surgery was opened in the Hospital, and our nurses put in charge. The work in this ward is very interesting, but severe.

It will be seen that the number of our nurses has largely increased since the work began ; and, as the city and Hospital grow, the number of nurses must increase, but, alas ! our funds do not increase. Many of our original subscribers have died ; and it is perhaps not generally understood that, though the nurses are liberally furnished by the Hospital with board and lodgings, we still have many expenses to meet in the salaries of Superintendent and night Superintendent and extra payment to head nurses for the instruction they give ; also for instruction in cooking and massage under Mrs. Raemisch, as our Treasurer's report shows. We must therefore ask our friends and the public, who are the gainers in their times of sickness by the work of the Training School, to remember us and our needs, and give us their continued and added support.

This year has brought to the Training School the loss of two members of its original Board of Directors, Dr. LeBaron Russell and Dr. Winsor. Their loss cannot be passed by without the warmest recognition of their services in the early days of the organization of the School, when much thought and much hard work had to be given.

Dr. Russell remained on the Board till his death, and was always ready with his interest and thought.

Dr. Winsor was obliged to withdraw from active work on the Board by press of other duties; but he continued to lecture and examine to the last, and was appointed to give the final lecture last spring. The Training School loses in him a most faithful and constant friend and adviser.

BOSTON TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

ATTACHED TO THE

MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL IN BOSTON.

The Directors of the Boston Training School for Nurses have made arrangements with the Trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital for giving a two years' training to women desirous of becoming professional nurses.

Persons wishing to receive this course of instruction must apply to the Superintendent of the Boston Training School, Massachusetts General Hospital, Blossom Street, Boston.

The most desirable age for Candidates is from twenty-five to thirty-five years. They must be in good health, and must refer to some responsible person as to their moral character. After approval by the Superintendent of the School and the Resident Physician of the Hospital, they are received for one month on probation. During this month, they are boarded and lodged at the Hospital, but receive no compensation.

They are under the authority of the Resident Physician and the Superintendent, and are subject to the Rules of the School and of the Hospital. Their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them at the end of the month of trial, are determined by the Resident Physician and the Superintendent and Directors of the School; and the same authorities can also discharge them at any time during their connection with the School, in case of misconduct or inefficiency. They reside in the Hospital, and serve as assistant nurses in the wards. When on service, they are required to wear the Hospital uniform.

TRAINING.

Those fulfilling the conditions of the probationary month are accepted as pupils. They must sign a written agreement to remain at the School for two years (including the probationary month) and to conform to its rules.

The instruction includes : —

1. The dressing of burns, sores, and wounds ; the preparation and application of fomentations, poultices, cups, leeches, and of minor dressings.
2. The administration of enemata, the use of the catheter, and the giving of baths.
3. The principles of massage, with practical exercises.
4. The care of the patient's room ; the making of beds ; the principles of ventilation, and their practical application.
5. The management and care of helpless patients ; the prevention and treatment of bed-sores.
6. The manufacture of bandages ; the application of bandages and splints.
7. Emergencies and their treatment.
8. The preparation, cooking, and serving of food ; the use of stimulants.

They are also taught how to observe accurately the secretions, expectorations, pulse, skin, appetite, temperature, sleep, eruptions, and the effect of diet, stimulants, and medicine. They are also instructed with regard to the management of convalescents. The instruction is given mainly by the Superintendent and by the Head Nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations, by members of the Hospital Staff, also take place at stated periods.

Examinations, conducted by a Board of Medical Examiners, are held quarterly.

The pupils are employed as assistant nurses in the wards of the Hospital, and receive ten dollars ($10) a month (after the probationary month) during the first year, and fourteen dollars ($14) a month during the second year, for their personal expenses. Their education during this time is considered a full equivalent for their services. During both years of the course, they board and lodge at the Hospital. Their washing is also done at the expense of the Hospital. Pupils are required to come prepared to pay for their uniform at the close of the probationary month. The expense of the uniform will not exceed twelve dollars.

When the full term of two years is satisfactorily completed, a diploma is given certifying to their period of training, their proficiency and moral character. The Training School provides a badge to which graduates are entitled on the payment of $7.00.

The Directors reserve the right to terminate the connection of a pupil with the school for any reason which they may deem sufficient.

A graduate of this school, who desires to acquire a special proficiency in the care of cases of nervous and mental diseases, has the privilege, under certain restrictions, of entering the McLean Asylum Training School for Nurses. Such graduates will, after one year's satisfactory study, receive the diploma from that School, in addition to the diploma received from the Boston Training School.
